

ANNEX 1

In the United States of America:

Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory
 Los Alamos National Laboratory
 Oak Ridge National Laboratory
 Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory
 Argonne National Laboratory
 Sandia National Laboratories at Albuquerque and Livermore
 General Atomics (La Jolla)
 Pacific Northwest Laboratories
 Universities such as MIT, Texas, UCLA, Maryland and Wisconsin

In the Russian Federation:

Research Institute for Electrophysical Apparatus (Efremov Inst) St. Petersburg
 Russian Research Centre "Kurchatov Institute", Moscow
 Troitsk Institute for Innovation and Thermonuclear Research (TRINITI), Troitsk
 Research and Design Institute for Power Engineering (RDIFE), Moscow
 Research Institute for Atomic Reactors, Dimitrovgrad
 Physics and Power Institute, Obninsk
 All-Russian Research Institute for Inorganic Materials (Bochvar Inst.), Moscow
 Russian Federal Nuclear Center - All-Russian Research Institute for Experimental Physics
 (Arzamas-16), Sarov
 Russian Federal Nuclear Center - All-Russian Research Institute for Technical Physics
 (Cheliabinsk-70), Snezhinsk
 State Enterprise "Krasnaya Zvezda", Moscow
 Institute of General Physics Russian Academy of Science (RAS), Moscow
 Institute of Applied Physics RAS, Nizhny Novgorod
 Institute of Applied Mathematics RAS (Keldysh Inst.) Moscow
 Physical-Technical Institute RAS (Ioffe Inst.), St. Petersburg
 Institute of Nuclear Physics RAS (Budker Inst.), Novosibirsk
 Institute for High Temperatures RAS, Moscow
 Institute of Physical Chemistry RAS, Moscow
 Institute of Metallurgy RAS (Baikov Inst.), Moscow
 Moscow State University (Lomonosov Univ.), Moscow
 Moscow Engineering Physics Institute, Moscow
 St. Petersburg Technical University, St. Petersburg
 Nizhny-Novgorod Technical University, Nizhny Novgorod
 Moscow State Technical University (Bauman Inst.), Moscow
 Moscow Power Institute, Moscow
 Moscow Aviation Institute, Moscow

Central Research Institute for Structural Materials "Prometey", St. Petersburg
State Enterprise "Kompozit", Korolev
State Enterprise "Titan", Moscow
All-Russian Research and Development Institute for Cable Industry, Moscow

Each Party may unilaterally adjust the list of its establishments and organizations participating in this cooperation, and shall inform the other Party of any such adjustments.